DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's species election with traverse of SEQ ID NO:2 in Paper No. 8 is acknowledged. The requirement for the election of species is withdrawn in response to Applicant's arguments and because all species were identified in a single search.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: U.S. application 09/679710 has issued as U.S. patent 6576232. The first line of the specification should be updated accordingly.

The brief description of Figures 3 and 5 is objected to because not all of the panels are described.

There are sequences on pp. 40 and 41 that lack sequence identifiers.
Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 2, 24, and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Debinski et al., Nature Biotechnology vol. 16, pp. 449-453.

Debinski et al. teaches the mutant E13K, which is instant SEQ ID NO: 2 (p. 449). While Debinski et al. does not teach the encoding sequences, a person of ordinary skill would envisage the claimed polynucleotides from the disclosed sequence. The polynucleotides, were, therefore, in the public domain. If one of ordinary skill in the art is able to "at once envisage" the specific compound within the generic chemical formula, the compound is anticipated. One of ordinary skill in the art must be able to draw the structural formula or write the name of each of the compounds included in the generic formula before any of the compounds can be "at once envisaged." One may look to the preferred embodiments to determine which compounds can be anticipated. In re Petering , 133 USPQ 275 (CCPA 1962).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3-23 and 26-46 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

CLAIMS 1, 2, 24, AND 25 ARE REJECTED. CLAIMS 3-23 AND 26-46 ARE OBJECTED TO.
